RAFFETY has been established in Kensington Church Street, London, for more than 30 years. In that time, we have become recognised as a premier resource for European clocks, particularly British, by collectors, private clients and museum authorities worldwide.

This reputation has been achieved by selecting only those pieces that come to the market which exhibit fine quality, aesthetic appeal and originality - important criteria when considering the purchase of an antique timepiece.

All items illustrated costing up to £35,000 are openly priced in response to the appreciative feedback from loyal clients and confirms our general policy of pricing transparency.

We look forward to your visit to our London gallery and learning your specific buying and selling interests. We are extremely keen to learn of fresh information concerning clockmakers of the 17th and 18th centuries in particular, and we are also interested to buy as well as sell fine historic clocks. Do contact us and let us share with you our passion and knowledge of antiquarian horology.
